

Loftware Alliance Partner Program

for System Integrators, Consultants and Advisory Partners

The program provides structure, vision and strategy for implementing labeling solutions and integrating label printers, coding, marking and other devices with cloud and on-premise business applications.

What is the Software Alliance Partner Program?

The Software Alliance Partner Program is a partnership program with Printer Manufacturers, Software Developers (ISVs), System Integrators, and Technology Providers.

The program provides structure, vision and strategy for implementing labeling solutions and integrating label printers, coding, marking and other devices with cloud and on-premise business applications. It provides market leadership for labeling best practices. It creates a network of Partners who thrive by building solutions on the same powerful platform.

Who benefits from the Loftware Alliance Partner Program?

All providers in the supply chain benefit from a partnership with Loftware. Loftware simplifies the process for printing labels in the warehouse and on the production line. Loftware manages the printing of all supply chain documents in the logistics center. Loftware enables codes and messages on products and packaging on the production line. In one software platform customers manage all supply chain printing.

That's great for printer manufacturers, because Loftware helps to integrate printers into any business system. It's great for ISVs, because Loftware manages all supply chain printing out of their solution. And it's great for System Integrators, who thrive by implementing Loftware-based labeling solutions.

And it's great for customers, who enjoy a total labeling solution.

What is in it for Loftware Alliance Partners?

In partnership with Alliance Partners, Loftware works collaboratively to bring unique solutions to the market. These solutions distinguish our Partners from competitors. They provide so many options for our Partners to add more value. They create recurring revenue opportunities.

Loftware Alliance Partners give their users maximum ROI and a great customer experience. We cover all print technologies. We streamline printer connectivity. We enable manufacturers to connect ISVs' applications to their printers and securely connect their printers to the Cloud.

Loftware Alliance Partners generate subscription-based recurring revenue with Loftware Cloud. And they generate professional services revenue. And if they're in the hardware business, they sell many more devices – thanks to the outstanding out-of-the-box experience their customers enjoy – thanks to Loftware.

What is Loftware's vision for the connected supply chain?

Without the barcode, the supply chain fails. With Loftware, there is always the barcode. Without Loftware, the supply chain is disconnected. With Loftware, you enter the connected supply chain. Loftware brings together the members of a supply chain in a collaborative compliance program that ensures the right label gets printed for the right product, which arrives on time at the right place. No errors, no recalls, no mistakes.

Join Loftware's Alliance Partner Program and enter the connected supply chain.

Integration Partner Program

The Loftware Integration Partner Program provides structure, vision and strategy for implementing labeling solutions and integrating label printers, coding, marking and other devices with cloud and on-premise business applications.

We make labeling painless for you and your customers.

You have the expertise; we have the product. You complete projects on time and to budget, we provide software tools that standardize and centralize enterprise-wide labeling. You consult across the supply chain; we enable the supply chain to comply through our Cloud print solutions that all operators access with permission.

With your expertise and our product, your customers implement Enterprise-wide labeling processes, complex migrations from legacy platforms, upgrades to the Cloud and regulatory compliance programs. Your customers are implementing labeling compliance across the whole of their supply chain.
